The Markets.

NEW YORK, August 26.—Money easy 1½ to 2½, closing 1½ to 2; prime paper 5¼ to 6½; sterling exchange stronger 4 83¼, demand 4.85¼; governments strong and higher; railways quiet; state securities quiet. The stock market to-day was very irregular but in the main weak. At the opening Union Pacific was conspicuous for a rise of 1½ per cent. to 52, the remainder of the active list after a fractional decline in first sales being strong and higher in sympathy with the rise in Union Pacific, the advance ranging from ¼ to 1⅛ per cent. Union Pacific was forced down to 50½, but later rallied to 51 and then dropped to 49⅞. Coal shares were also weaker, especially Lackawanna. The remainder of the list declined ¼ to 1¾ per cent, Pacific Mail, Missouri Pacific, Northern Pacific preferred and Western Union being most prominent.

A Broker Downed.

NEW YORK, August 26.—From the World of Wednesday: William J. Hutchinson was not at his office yesterday. He is said to be at his cottage at Seabright, prostrated by his manifold misfortunes. It is less than three years ago since Hutchinson made $3,000,000 in the Hannibal & St. Joe corner by his peculiar transactions as broker for John R. Duff. After making restitution to Duff to the amount of $750,000 he had left a clear fortune of $1,250,000. Yet in the brief period since that time Hutchinson has succeeded in spending nearly all that vast sum and after paying his indebtedness it is doubted he will not have a dollar. He owes nearly $200,000 on the street, and it is doubtful if he can liquidate these claims without the assistance of his wife, who has a large fortune in her own right.

The Fire Record

SCRANTON, Pa., August 26.—This morning fire burnt the planing mill of Joseph Hansley at Hyde Park. The office and forge and quantities of lumber were destroyed. At 2 p. m. the fire is spreading rapidly in the direction of Main street and several houses are in flames, and as water is scarce, a large amount of property will be destroyed.

PHILADELPHIA, August 26.—A dispatch to the Press from Scranton says: The fire which broke out here early this morning was confined to the mill and yard of Jos. Ainsly. Loss estimated $75,000.

NEW ORLEANS, August 26.—A Times-Democrat New Iberia special says: Fire broke out at 6 30 this evening in the rear of Lehman & Taylor's wholesale dry goods, totally destroying the building and contents, also H. Coganheim's residence and furniture store and half a dozen other buildings. The fire was past control at 9 50 p. m. There is no telling when it will be extinguished. The loss will be heavy. The fire nearing the telegraph office the operator had to leave the office. Its origin was accidental. Jos. Reynolds, foreman of company No. 1 was killed by an iron shutter falling on him. No later particulars up to midnight.

Wholesale Arrest of Miners.

COAL CENTRE, Pa., August 26.—Thirty-four more camping coal miners were arrested this morning by Special Officers McClure and McBurney for trespassing on the railroad company's property. They were lodged in the Odd Fellows' hall, and will be taken to Washington jail in wagons this afternoon. The wives of fifteen or twenty of the prisoners appeared with babes in their arms this morning, and begged to be sent to jail with their husbands, as they had nothing to live on but a little corn meal. Their request was not granted. Citizens are indignant at the wholesale arrests, which are made without warrants, and it is probable a public meeting denouncing the action of the officers will be called.

PITTSBURG, August 26.—A Coal Center special says: This evening 350 miners with three brass bands arrived at the camp on the steamer Alice from the lower pools. Strikers are very jubilant and claim that for every arrest made there will be four new recruits. Operator Neil went to Pittsburg to-day to take counsel whether the miner's camp maintained for the purpose it is cannot be broken up and the miners forced to leave. It is held by some that merely maintaining a camp is violating the law.

A Boy Bank Robber.

MINNEAPOLIS, August 26.—The Journal's St. Paul special says: Some time between Saturday night and Monday morning the People's bank, at the corner of Seventh and Sibley streets, was robbed of $10,000. The robbery was committed by some person in possession of the combination, as its vaults and locks were found intact and perfect. The bank officials are confident that the criminal is Atwood Mason, age 16 years, and book keeper in the bank, who has been missing since the robbery was discovered. The officials claim to know the exact whereabouts of Mason and say he will be in custody in a few hours. The safe combination was in the possession of Cashier Rittenhouse only, and how the boy secured it is a mystery.

The Oklahoma Boomers

FORT SMITH, Ark., August 26.—Captain Payne, the notorious Oklahoma boomer, and seven of his associates, who were arrested at Rock Falls, Indian territory, by General Hatch some days ago, arrived yesterday in charge of Lieut. Jackson and a detachment of the 9th U. S. cavalry. They were not delivered to the authorities at Fort Smith as was the original intention, but by directions from Caldwell, Kansas, Lieut. Jackson will take them to Fort Scott, Kansas, where they will be placed in charge of U. S. officers.

Grain by the Lakes.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 26.—A Chronicle, Portland, Oregon, special says: The Northern Pacific issued a telegraphic circular to-day announcing that it would carry grain from all points on its line in Washington territory to Duluth, Minneapolis or St. Paul at eight dollars per ton, same as present rates. A Portland circular also states that a rate of $7.60 can be secured via the lakes to Liverpool or Glasgow, giving better through rates to shippers than via the Horn.

Henry's Body Exhumed

NEW YORK, August 26.—The body of Private Henry has been exhumed and will be examined to-morrow.

A Brutal Murder

DENVER, August 26.—Just before daylight this morning H. McMann, one of the foremen of the great smelter, accused a workman named J. D. Spaun of sleeping at his post of duty. Some hard words passed between the men and Spaun seized a bar of iron and hit the foreman on the head with it, felling him to the floor. He then ran away. McMann was taken to his home. The skull was found to be fractured, and this afternoon the physician says the wounded man cannot recover. Spaun returned to the smelter this afternoon for his money and was placed under arrest. Witnesses pronounced the assault as brutal and unprovoked.

Reunion of Veterans

CHICAGO, August 26.—Four thousand veterans of the late war and three thousand of their friends participated in the opening exercises of the reunion of soldiers and sailors of the northwest at the driving park this afternoon. Governor Hamilton, of Illinois, delivered an address of welcome, followed by General Logan, who was accorded an enthusiastic reception. The general eulogized the unselfish party motives that had impelled volunteers, and paid an eloquent tribute to their achievements, detailing at some length the services of generals from Illinois, and mentioning the record of the regiment commanded by himself at the outbreak of the war. He concluded as follows: "What I was as a soldier you made me. You did the work, you braved the hardship, and to you I accord the honor. Let us teach the lessons of patriotism to our children, and let it be understood by all that an American citizen is entitled to protection wherever the flag floats, at home or abroad." Other speakers were Mayor Harrison, ex-Gov. Oglesby and Gen. J. C. Black. The naming of the encampment in honor of the lamented Col. Mulligan was the occasion for general commendation as a fitting remembrance of the dead hero. The reunion ends on Saturday. To-morrow there will be a grand review.

Bonner's Stable.

NEW YORK, August 26.—From the World of Wednesday: The great Jay-Eye See trotting race against time which was to have taken place over the Prospect Park course yesterday been postponed until to-morrow, and the race will then be of greater interest. If the little gelding beats the record of Maud S. of 2 09¾ he will belong to Mr. Bonner, if not Mr. Case will continue to own him. Bonner was in conference yesterday with Hamilton Busby of the Turf, Field and Farm relative to the price to be offered for the rival of Maud S, and it was definitely settled that no purchase should take place within three weeks. As long as Maud S stands at the head of the list Bonner is satisfied and will not care to add to his stable.

CHICAGO, August 26.—The Files-Chandler alleged prize fight occurred to-night in a livery stable on State street in the presence of about 90 sports who had been induced to pay Jere Dunn twenty dollars apiece for the privilege. The contestants, Tom Chandler and Johnny Files, wore small soft gloves. It is not known what the stakes were. Four rounds were fought, in the first three of which there was so much cautious sparring and little heavy slugging as to disgust the spectators. The fourth round opened with some hard hitting and Chandler managed to force Files to his knees and while in that position Files received a resounding blow on the neck that sufficed to disable him for more than the ten seconds required by Queensbury rules. The fight was over in less than fifteen minutes from the time it started.

Dominick's Blood Up.

BOSTON, August 26.—Dominick McCaffrey, of Pittsburg, alleging grossly unfair treatment, in his fight with McCoy, issues a challenge. He says:

"I hereby challenge Pete McCoy to glove competition of four or six rounds with small gloves under Marquis of Queensbury rules for $1,000 or $5,000 a side and gate receipts, winner to take all and the match to be decided within six weeks in New York City where we can both be assured of fair play. If McCoy declines to accept this challenge I shall feel disappointed unless I can secure a match with John L. Delegates from the Ohio legislature, the brother of the dead journalist and a delegation from the press club of this city received the body and escorted it to the city hall. Among the wreaths on the casket one bore a long satin ribbon on which was inscribed "From the New York Press club." Another bore the inscription: "From the Journalists of New York." The silver plate on the casket was inscribed "J. A. McGahan, died June [illegible], 1878, aged 34."

At 4 this afternoon the committee of the Ohio legislature and the members of the press of New York assembled in the governor's room in the city hall, where the remains were lying in state. A procession soon formed, a detachment of the police leading, and the body of the [illegible] was borne to the depot of the Pennsylvania railway, where the president of the New York Press club transferred the sacred trust into the keeping of the Ohio delegation, who guard the remains of MacGahan until final interment in his native state.

Strike Troubles.

COLUMBUS, August 26.—A Buchtel, Ohio, special states that the miners are coming in from the surrounding country, and most bitter feeling exists between the strikers and guards on duty. When new men were put into the mine to-day the strikers obstructed the road, but were finally driven back by the Pinkerton men. One aged striker was knocked down by a guard and broke one arm. The guard was arrested and bound over in $500. Threats are made, and best sources of information anticipate trouble soon.

WASHINGTON, August 26.—The treasurer of the United States forwarded the governor of Louisiana $21,000 in school bonds of the state captured at Baton Rouge in '65 by Lieutenant General Sheridan. THE WAR IN ASIA.

Formal Declaration of War by China Expected To-Day.

Paris Papers Resent Charges of Massacre at Foo Chow.

The War in China

PARIS, August 26.—It is believed after Admiral Courbet has destroyed the fort on Min river between the arsenal and the river mouth he will join Admiral Lespes before Keelung and arrange with him for occupation of that place. There is talk of an expedition from Tonquin into Tunan at the end of the wet season unless China accepts France's terms.

The Figaro says General Millot will be recalled from Tonquin because he is considered responsible for the difficulties since the Tein Tsin treaty was made.

Paris papers indignantly refute charges by the London Times that cruelty was exercised by Admiral Courbet at Foo Chow, and indulge in violent abuse of England. The Voltaire and Temps say France has no need to exculpate itself to the country which set fire to Alexandria. Admiral Courbet destroyed the Chinese gunboats because he could not weaken his crews by occupying them. The Soliel and Republique Francaise approve Admiral Courbet's energetic course. "All he did," they say, "was to obey orders in the hope of effecting prompt settlement of the existing difficulty."

Cassagnac advocates an alliance between France and Germany.

SHANGHAI, August 26.—Advices from Foo Chow to the twenty fourth received at 6 15 this evening confirm reports of the destruction of the whole Chinese fleet. PARIS, August 26.—Le Paris states that it is expected China will to-morrow make formal declaration of war against France. Great fears are expressed for the safety of Catholic missionaries in China.

The Situation at Marseilles.

WASHINGTON, August 26.—The state department has received from Mason, United States consul at Marseilles, a report upon the situation at that place and Toulon, since the abatement of the cholera epidemic. He says the finances of Toulon and Marseilles have been strained to the utmost in cleaning streets and tenements and caring for the sick and burying the dead. The presence of impending financial ruin weighs heavily on the business community, and even ordinary resources of charity are seriously curtailed. The tide of returning fugitives is increasing. No description can picture the wretchedness and destitution that already exists.

The Cholera Scourge.

Formal Acceptance of the Building from the Contractor.

A meeting of the building committee of the school board consisting of A. Sagendorf, Dr. Horn and D. B. Fairley, acting in conjunction with Mr. Roeschlaub, the architect, was held last night and the Liller school building formally accepted from the contractors. The work seemed entirely satisfactory and there was not a variation in the figures as to the amount to be paid to exceed $10, as estimated by the contractor and architect. The building is now entirely complete with the exception of placing in position some of the furniture. Including fencing, etc., the school has cost $20,000 and that amount was last night paid the contractor. It has been decided to throw the building open for inspection by the public on Saturday afternoon between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock, and it is earnestly desired by the building committee that all of our taxpayers visit the building and see for themselves how their money has been expended.

State Engineer Nettleton says that the proposition to drain Grand Lake will cost from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, and take 36 years to complete the work. He does not consider the project feasible.

New Mexico is twenty years ahead of Kansas and Texas in the possession of an effective law and all the necessary machinery for preventing the introduction of diseased cattle within the limits of the territory.

Mayor Routt, in deference to the wishes of the exposition commission, will probably shortly issue a proclamation requesting business men to close their places of business on the afternoon of next Monday, the opening day of the exposition.

A Midnight Blaze.

The fire department were called out this morning at 12.30, the cause being a bright light towards the south. Two of the hose carts went south a few blocks, but stopped when it became evident that the fire was not in the city. Up to the time of going to press no more news had been received from the fire, which was of considerable magnitude, burning brightly for at least three-quarters of an hour. It was about five miles south and was probably a ranch house or barn near the foot of Cheyenne mountain.

The committee respectfully suggest that the several precincts hold their primaries on Wednesday, September 3d, 1884, at 2 o'clock p. m.

C. W. BARKER, Secretary. JOHN CAMPBELL, Chairman.

El Paso county is claimed by the Routt men. They say the state delegation will certainly vote for the admission of the Routt delegation from Arapahoe who are solid for him.

If a minority of the state convention on the 10th of September next take possession of the opera house at one o'clock in the morning, keep the doors locked until a temporary organization is effected, and prevent the majority of the convention from participating in the temporary organization, the case will be exactly parallel to the proceedings of the Routt Arapahoe convention in Denver.

The county road into Cheyenne cañon is still illegally closed. We met Commissioners Woodbury and Husted yesterday. They said they had issued orders to Road Overseer Kinsman to open the county road into Cheyenne cañon. This order is not only not rescinded, but not modified. The people of this county have the right to use the road for half a mile into the cañon beyond the present toll gate. The obstructions were placed there contrary to law, and kept there in defiance of the county commissioners and the people of this county. What are we going to do about it?

A Characteristic Story, Even if Untrue.

New York Sun

"Did you ever see Ben Butler embarrassed?"

This question was put to one of the general's most faithful friends.

"Did I ever see General Butler embarrassed?" The question was repeated slowly, and then came the following story:

"Yes, only once, though. It was in this way: I had business in Washington and was sitting in General Butler's office, when a lady, poorly clad as a widow, and in motion and speech betraying refinement, entered and asked for the general She had never seen him, and was evidently nervous in his presence. She was, she said, a Virginian, and all that she had in the world was a homestead, then involved in litigation. The suit was on the calendar for that day. If she lost it she would be penniless and her children would be deprived of food. Her lawyers had that morning abandoned the case because she could not pay them, and in her distress some one, as a last resort, advised her to state her case to General Butler, and, as she had nowhere else to turn, she had adopted the suggestion, doubting how she would be received She ventured some further apology for intruding, because she was by birth and sentiment a southern woman, but General Butler waved his hand deprecatingly and said

"'Madame, give me the history of the suit as clearly and concisely as you can.'

"She did so with great intelligence, which I could not fail to admire, and General Butler, ordering his carriage, drove to the court house and got the case adjourned for two or three days. He went alone to try it, and was occupied for three days. At the end of that time a verdict was obtained in favor of the woman. The matter had interrupted the business I had in hand, and I was at General Butler's office the morning after the case was finished. The same woman entered, and I wondered why her features betrayed so little pleasure over the result. She handed General Butler a deed to the property he had rescued. It was made out carefully in his name, and gave him the absolute title to the estate.

"'I don't want this,' he said. I've got no business with it."

"'But, sir,' she said, 'it is yours by right. You won the suit, and but for you I would not have even the poor privilege of signing the deed in some one else's favor. I cannot pay you except in this way. If, after you have deducted your fee from the proceeds, there is anything left you can hand it to me."

"The old general began to swell up like an adder, as he does when unusually aroused, and he said that he wouldn't have anything to do with the property.

"'But, sir,' said the woman, 'I will not touch it until you are paid.'

"'How many children have you got?' he said, turning away to hide his emotion.

"'Four, sir,' said she, 'and all my property in this world I turn over you to repay you for your service.'

"'Tut, tut,' said General Butler, who was striving to keep down the tears, 'keep your property and use it to bring up your children, I won't touch it.'

"'But what about your fee?' she asked.

"'Why,' said the general, 'I'll take that out of the first scoundrel that comes along.'

"The poor woman's features relaxed, and she burst into tears. General Butler moved about uneasily, and turned his face to the wall. It was the only time I ever saw him embarrassed."

Blaine's Letters.

New York Extra.

There are some very curious epistles among the letters that are received by a presidential candidate. Mr. Blaine's mail averages over a hundred letters a day, besides several hundred papers. Nearly every letter receives an answer of some sort, and very many of the papers are examined to see if any particular article is marked. A careful file is kept both of letters and newspaper clippings, and it is easy matter to refer to any particular letter or paragraph at short notice. The only letters that are not answered are those that are palpably for advertising purposes exclusively. For instance, a tobacco dealer sends a sample of labels which he intends to use on a new kind of fine cut. He wants to know whether the labels meet with Mr. Blaine's approval or not, stating that the question has been asked by many of his customers. It is, of course, useless to answer such letters; but all others receive courteous, and some of them detailed, answer. One man writes for a piece of the tree under which Mr. Blaine stood when he was officially informed of his nomination It is wanted for the manufacture of frames of Blaine and Logan pictures. Another man offered to buy all the apples on the trees between which the hammock was hung on the day of the convention. He no doubt thinks he could sell them for a dollar apiece. Perhaps half the letters give advice as to how the campaign should be run, and not a few of these contain valuable suggestions that are straightway referred to the national republican committee. All those details of the canvass do not worry or annoy the candidate in the least. He expects them, and he attends to them as methodically as he goes to his meals All that he hoped to escape by retiring to Bar Harbor was the incessant dropping in of people who only care to view him as they would an elephant in a menagerie.

Henry Clay and Tom Marshall.

St Louis Globe-Democrat.

All old Lexingtonians speak of this power of putting things which Henry Clay possessed, but they say it was something to be felt and not to be imitated or described. Illustrative of it is told the story of Tom Marshall's visit here on one occasion to "down" the great whig leader. Mr. Clay had to face a back salary grab There was no question of the facts. They were all against him. He had come home to his Blue Grass constituency, and was to meet the charges and reply to them from the front of the court house. Marshall had been sent for, and had come to show the weakness of Mr. Clay's defense and to clinch the political scandal. Clay commenced to speak and Marshall stood in the crowd well toward the front, listening. As the orator progressed with his vindication Marshall edged back toward the street At length Marshall touched the opposite side of Broadway and stood in the outskirts of the crowd. Clay reached his closing periods as Marshall was slipping round the corner of Chicapside Two or three anti-Clay men stopped him and said, "Why, Mr. Marshall, where are you going? We want you to answer Mr. Clay. You can reply to all he's said." "Of course, I can answer him," said Mr. Marshall, vehemently, "I can make a better argument than that. I can meet every point, but, gentlemen, I can't get up there and do it now. That's all."

That Joke on Haverly.

Chicago News

Henry E. Dixey tells a story to the effect that John Stetson once went behind the scenes in his New York theatre and found fault with a certain piece of scenery then in use. "What is the blamed thing, anyway?" The stage manager informed him that it was a scene after Michael Angelo, whereupon Stetson pompously exclaimed. "Well, it's no good—pay Mike his salary, and let him go!" A day or two afterward Dixey was reciting the incident to Jack Haverly, but Haverly didn't seem to catch on to the joke So Dixey repeated the yarn and Haverly, forcing a property smile, exclaimed. "Oh, yes, I see—there ain't no such person as Angelo!" This amused Dixey more than the original story, and he hurried to tell Stetson about it. But Stetson was quite as thick-witted as Haverly had been in detecting the humor of the thing "Why, don't you see?" exclaimed Dixey, with great earnestness, "I told this yarn to Haverly and he replied 'There ain't no such person as Michael Angelo!' 'Ah, yes,' cried Stetson, with a sudden beam of intelligence, 'he ought to have said: 'There isn't any such person as Michael Angelo'—yes, yes—a good one on Haverly—ha, ha, ha!"

The Press of Mexico

A Times-Democrat correspondent says: The press of Mexico is as different from that of ten years ago as everything else is different here. To be sure there are some rare exceptions in which now and then some obscure and short lived little sheet will, like a toad stool in a garden of roses, spring up and nauseate with its pestilent outpourings those who are so unfortunate to touch it, but these are of short life and seldom seen, except in the low and filthy purlieus frequented by those who issue them or earn a precarious living by pandering to the depraved tastes of low and unprincipled characters No respectable newspaper in this capital will disgrace its table by having any such papers upon it, nor much less by noticing them in any way. There are many very excellent papers in this city, both dailies and illustrated weeklies, edited in Spanish, French, German and English, all popular and apparently prosperous, but my attention has been particularly attracted to one which, although comparatively new, is far ahead of all the others in everything requisite to make a paper of value, and therefore it enjoys a popularity and commands the respect of all classes of readers in this country.

MAUD HOWE'S NOVEL.

"The San Rosario Ranch!"

Third Thousand. $1.25.

This is an extract from the Boston Daily Advertiser's review, and there is no more able critical authority: "The 'San Rosario Ranch' belongs to a noble class of novels; it deals with the deepest feelings, the strongest emotions and the most powerful motives in human life. It is on a high plain, far above the petty strife, ambition and jealousy out of which 'society novels' are manufactured. The book is written in a spirit of large sympathy, and without one touch of censoriousness or ridicule. This sympathy is far-reaching; it is given to the Indian, driven from his mission, to the faithful Chinaman, killed by the fury of a white scoundrel; to the rich and coarse Irishman, living in splendor and in fear of his butler—of all of them some good is told; the best side is the one that is made prominent. The book is not a sermon, although its tone is so grave and its spirit so earnest; it is a good, warm love story, with plenty of life, of incident and of narrow escapes, and it is a very attractive picture of California life and California people."

TEXAS FEVER.

How It Affects the [illegible]

Unquestionably the Texas fever ... although it has not been direct ... serious to cows, save to a few individuals, has been a great element of weakness in the markets and responsible for a considerable depreciation in prices, says the Breeders' Gazette. Those who had cattle on the way to market, and likely those who will have cattle to market in the near future, have met in this way considerable loss. The depreciation is very largely in range cattle, and in cattle coming from beyond the Missouri. It is reported that ... many Texas cattle have, this season, been driven into the range country and large shipments made direct from Texas by rail ... to determine ... any particular lot of cattle ... that it has not been in contact ... by Texas cattle, or driven along or across trails over which Texas cattle have passed, and ... in consequence the latent germ of disease, ... from a little slow about taking ... there is even a remote possibility that cattle, apparently healthy when they buy them, may develop a disease before they get them off their hands, and it is natural that they should require the temptation of somewhat greater profits than those with which they would have otherwise been satisfied. And to some extent this undercurrent of misapprehension affects the market even for cattle concerning which there is no question, because if ... outbreak should occur it would ... the price of everything which ... happened to be on the market and reducing ... everybody is desirous of not being caught in such a contingency with anything on hand. So that this unfortunate matter has touched the pocket of every man who has had a bullock on the market, or who will have one to sell within the near future. If all these indirect losses be ascertained, the aggregate would be a sum sufficient to startle the whole country. It would be many times greater than the value of all the cattle which are known to have been affected by the disease, although the actual cash value of the cattle that went into the rendering tanks near the city from the single outbreak of a few weeks ago could not be [illegible] less than [illegible],000.

How can the people in the range country, and the farmers in the grazing and stock feeding and stock growing states of the west and northwest afford to have the cattle market and cattle values disturbed and unsettled in this way at any time? Is it not that this sensitiveness about Texas cattle fever and of the rights of anybody to ship it around the country should be abandoned? Is it not time that the existence of this disease as a serious menace and fruitful source of danger to the live stock and farming interests should be recognized and the best talent and effort of the country directed to its repression? What can be done? Certainly nothing, while it is by law specifically exempted from sanitary regulations and control. The agitation concerning it is not a matter of idle and frivolous sentiment, but springs from an appreciation that it is a matter of grave and serious moment to the country, liable at any time to bring home heavy pecuniary loss to every farmer and to every person concerned in the live stock movement. If there is any reader of the Gazette who does not propose to be himself elected to congress, we hope he will be particular to send a man who will attend to this matter for him. It does not make much difference what his politics may be, so that he will give the country the protection of efficient livestock legislation. We cannot hope to clear the way at one effort, to find a ready and easy solution for all the complex conditions and conflicting and important interests presented. We will make many attempts before the true ground is reached, but it is time we should make a commencement, and that should be no longer delayed.

STOCK NOTES.

The Spring creek round up begins on the first. This will be the last round-up of the season, and a final disposition of mavericks will be made.

Medicine Lodge Index: "Eighty to ninety per cent of calves is the way all the stockmen on the Strip talk when asked what the calf crop will be this season. This is encouraging, as it has been a doubtful question, and in the light of last year's experience, whether it was a paying business to raise calves on our local ranches. It is not definitely settled yet whether it is more profitable to buy yearling steers at $17 around from through droves and mature them, or raise calves from $20 cows and $60 bulls running on grass that costs about 5 cents an acre."

Texas stock cattle range at from $18 to $24 at Fort Worth, Texas, according to the quality and location, and these prices are not as high as the price of beef would justify, says the Texas Live Stock Journal. At this time last year stocks ranged at from $22 to $37, and now beef is fully as high as then. Good cattle cannot be bought for less than $34 and should bring $47. We feel sure that when financial disturbances are quieted cattle will again reach the highest figures of 1883.

The Caldwell (Kas.) Journal says: "There seems to be some difference of opinion between the drovers of through cattle and our ranchmen as to the value of the cattle and the prices that would be equitable to both parties, considering the state of the money market and the price of beef. This difference of opinion brought down to dollars and cents, is the difference between $19 and $17 for yearlings. It is hoped that boys will get a little closer together in their ideas and that a few big deals may be recorded soon."

The present season will develop the experiment of shipping Colorado and Wyoming store cattle or "feeders" to Europe, by which will be termed the "Northern route," via Lake Superior to the Canadian Pacific, thence along the line to Quebec, and by steamer to Europe. Mr. Frewen, of Wyoming, who has been instrumental in inaugurating this scheme, claims for it the saving of 1,000 miles in travel. He also gives it as his opinion that 50,000 bullocks will be sent by it the present season.

Las Animas Leader: "Inspector Talbot went down to Bloomfield's range last Saturday to investigate the reported death of 300 head of cattle from Texas fever. He ascertained the fact that there were 280 head of cattle dead, and that they died from starvation. Being very poor when the storm caught them, about two weeks ago, they drifted against the pasture fence of the Arkansas Cattle company, and turned north. If they had turned south on the fence they would have reached the river and found plenty of water."

The Birth of Fashions.

Chicago Times.

Mme. de Pompadour once had an ugly pimple on her chin. She was vexed, and at last, in despair, pasted a piece of black plaster over the offending spot. Result: All the ladies of the court appeared the following week with pieces of plaster on their faces. A fashion was established, and it was kept up for a long time. The same lady, as I suppose you know, was exceedingly diminutive in stature. To remedy this defect she invented high heeled boots. They were unknown before her time. Result: The ladies of the court took to high heeled boots, and another fashion had birth.

"The Princess of Wales is the unfortunate possessor of a lump. No, sir, not a white little knob, but an ugly, unprepossessing lump. Well, would you believe it? some time ago a large number of ladies had on ... head of their ... a single lower than the other. Result: The "Alexandra limp" became the height of fashion. The "choker" band was another result of this unfortunate defect. Well, this same noble lady has some slight deformity in the neck which prevents her wearing décolleté low. Result: the fashion, which still rages among English ladies, for bodices reaching almost to the ears, which fashion is much ridiculed among the Parisians. I must say it is a case of the pot calling the kettle black.

The "Purtiest Fight He Ever Saw."

"The purtiest fight, though, gentlemen," remarked an old stager, "is between a deer and a rattlesnake. I was hunting one day when I saw a deer come to a sudden stop and turn and gallop off through the woods. Directly it came back, followed by a powerful buck, and when it got a little—about twenty feet of where it had stopped before, it stopped agin till the old buck come along side of it, then both come back about twenty feet and took a runnin' start, and when the foremost one got to a certain point she give a snort and jumped clear over the place, and the old buck followed in the same way. They kept this up for several minutes, when the buck commenced to come down on the spot with his fore feet. When they had got through I went up, and that was a rattlesnake as big as a rail, all smashed up. Now, sir, it's amazin' how they worked their little game. They first got the snake so tarnal mad that he would strike at a shadder, then the first one would go over, and when the snake had struck at him the old buck would come along before it could coil up agin and get in his hoof work. It was the purtiest fight you ever saw."

"The Training of Parents," "Every Man His Own Letter Writer," and the other stories which make up this collection, are equally remarkable for their novelty, surprise of plot, and cleverness.

THE KING'S MEN. A Tale of To-morrow. By Robert Grant, John Boyle O'Reilly, J. S. of Dale, and John T. Wheelwright. 1 vol, 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

This daring and ingenious story of the future is unquestionably destined to be the most widely discussed book of the summer. The brilliant literary partnership which produced it has aroused ... the experiment has been the boldest in the history of literary collaboration ... what can be gathered from the story ... concerning the ... King George ... the audacity of the ... is fully supported by the ... and exciting incidents of the story. The book is crowded with action and ingenious complication, and yet the powers which the authors have shown elsewhere are never lost in its rapid movement.

It will be found in the midsummer number of Stories by American Authors. For sale everywhere, 50 cents.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO'S

NEW BOOKS.

A COUNTRY DOCTOR. A novel. By Sarah Orne Jewett, author of "Deephaven," "Country By-Ways," etc. 16mo, $1.25.

In this novel Miss Jewett uses on a larger scene and with increased effect the qualities which have made her short stories so popular and so thoroughly delightful. A woman physician figures in it, but the story is quite unlike the novels, by Mr. Howells and Miss Phelps in which women physicians are the heroines. It gives wonderfully accurate pictures of New England characters, customs and scenery, the heroine is "one of our girls" and as such will charm readers as few heroines do in current novels. The freshness, the sincerity, the helpful sympathy, which render Miss Jewett's stories at once so attractive and wholesome, pervade "A Country Doctor," and can hardly fail to make it one of the most widely popular and welcome of this summer's novels.

THE FATE OF MANSFIELD HUMPHREYS. With the Episode of Mr. Washington Adams in England, and an Apology. By Richard Grant White. 16mo, $1.25.

This is one of the most entertaining of "International" books, in which the mutual misconceptions and prejudices of Englishmen and Americans are developed and illustrated.

PHŒBE. A Novel. By the author of "Rutledge." 16mo, $1.25.

An American story in character and incidents, told with [illegible] it will be hailed as a special boon by novel readers. To a multitude looking for summer reading, this story needs no other recommendation than that it is by the author of "Rutledge."

THE AMERICAN HORSEWOMAN. By Elizabeth Karr. Illustrated, 12mo, $2.00.

An admirably practical book. The selection and management of a horse, all the details of equipment, every separate article of dress that the rider should wear, and the making of it—all these are described specifically, and the book is made still more useful by illustrative cuts, the whole forming a manual of great value to any lady who would become thoroughly skillful in the equestrienne art.

SUMMER. From the Journals of H. D. Thoreau, author of "Walden," "Cape Cod," etc. Edited by H. G. O. Blake. With a map of Concord. 12mo, gilt top, $1.50.

This book comprises selections from Thoreau's Journals containing observations and reflections during the summers of many years. Some of these are descriptive, with that fine photographic accuracy which marks Thoreau's pictures of natural scenes. Other passages contain those subtle reflections on society, religion, laws, literature, which also characterize whatever Thoreau wrote, and which pique the curiosity and stimulate the minds of his readers.

On next Saturday evening August 30th one of the most attractive entertainments of the season will take place at the opera house The Bijou Opera Bouffe company of forty artists will produce the brilliant operatic burlesque "Orpheus and Eurydice," adapted from Offenbach's masterpiece, "Orphee Aux Enfers" The company comes direct from the Bijou opera house, New York, where the present production achieved the remarkable run of over 160 nights It has been a long time since we have had anything of the kind here, and it will prove a refreshing novelty and a great attraction The music of Offenbach is exceptionally bright 'Orpheus and Eurydice" is an operatic burlesque and the story is said to be very amusing dealing with the adventures and loves of the ancient gods and goddesses and furnishing ample opportunities for absurd situations The text is plentifully interspersed with local hits, puns, etc, and is bright and sparkling throughout Critics everywhere have been most lavish in the praise of the costumes and appointments of Orpheus, pronouncing them the richest of the kind ever seen Taken altogether it is only reasonable to presume that "Orpheus and Eurydice" will prove one of the "events of the season" The sale of reserved seats will begin Friday morning at Howbert Bros' book store.
